

Tinakilly Country House & Gardens

Nestled between Ashford and Wicklow town on the coast road just 40 minutes from Dublin, an avenue lined with majestic oak trees guides you to stunning views of mountains, lakes, sea and a very warm welcome at our beautifully restored country manor four star boutique hotel.

You will enjoy gorgeous, authentic old world charm with every modern luxury and comfort in idyllic, sprawling gardens, tranquilly surrounded by some of Ireland's most mesmerising landscapes.

Great Eastern Pavilion

Situated amongst beautiful woodlands and overlooks the Irish Sea. A majestic space with strong influences of the period Country House. Wood panelled walls, lounge room, soft uplighting, fairy lights, contrast beautifully with stunning views from the three meter high windows through the woodlands to the sea. A real wow factor.

It can accommodate up to 300 guests, making this the perfect location for all large events and weddings.

THE PAVILION

LOUNGE AREA

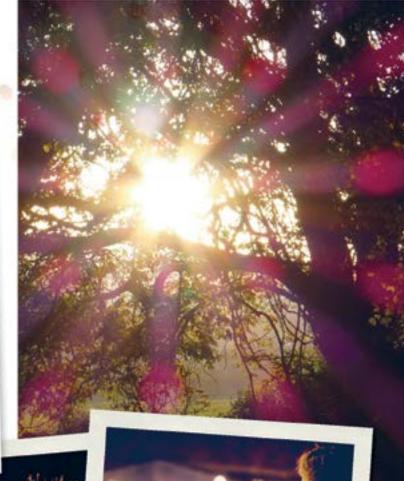

Emma and myself got married here three weeks ago and people are still raving about the day, the grounds, the food, the accommodation, and the staff of Tinakilly, who not only made sure that we had everything we wanted on the day but also our guests, who have been glowing in their comments about all the staff there on the day itself and the following day. From the day we booked the venue Shauna and Michael were an absolute pleasure to deal with, nothing was to much for them and they made our preparations so easy. We cannot thank them enough, but we soon learned on our many visits to Tinakilly that the helpfulness and friendliness is ingrained in each and every one of the staff at the venue, they are a credit to the house and to Norma and Denis, who themselves lead by example, and were extremely generous with their time, every time we visited, we could not have been welcomed any better. The venue on the day itself was perfect, the marquee, the house and the grounds looked fabulous and the food and the drink were delicious and plentiful! We cannot recommend Tinakilly enough, for any occasion, and we are looking forward to our next visit there. Thank you again to all the staff, you made our day one of the most enjoyable of our lives.

The name Tinakilly is derived from the townland of Tinakilly on which the house is built.

It comes from the Gaelic;
Ti = house. na = of the.
Coille = wood. So the whole name in Irish means

"House of the Wood".

Some of the trees in the garden appear to predate the house which took ten years to build and was completed in 1883.

Tinakilly was constructed for Captain Robert Halpin.

Tinakilly gardens are on 16 acres and the entire estate sprawls over 150 acres, with our woodland walks, lawn terraces, ideal for a game of boules or croquet, rose gardens perfect for your civil ceremony and our Halpin lawn boasting sea views ideal for your drinks reception.

Our team of gardeners ensure Tinakilly is surrounded by beautiful blooms creating multiple photo opportunities. In spring Tinakilly is surrounded by 100,000 daffodils, tulips and bluebells. In Summer Tinakilly bursts into colour with varieties of antique roses and seasonal flowers surrounding the house and gardens. The walled herb garden provides the kitchens with fresh herbs and seasonal vegetables. In Autumn the gardens change colour again to autumnal reds and oranges, and in Winter a large Christmas tree adorns the foyer with holly and poinsettias to add colour through out the house.

5 weeks ago today!! From start to finish I really couldn't recommend the place highly enough. From the moment we booked the venue we were at ease and knew we had made the right choice.

The staff, uniqueness, homeliness and ambience of the hotel and grounds are second to none.

The staff, in particular Shauna our co ordinator and Marion were so friendly, welcoming and helpful.

Nothing was too much for them....

The whole weekend was fantastic. We had a second day barbecue which couldn't be faulted. The food-top notch and plenty to go around.

The reception we received from all the staff the entire weekend was unreal. We were made to feel at home.

Overall for anyone considering this hotel for a wedding / lunch/ staff don't hesitate!!

we will definitely be back down.

Thanks again Tinakilly.
